DOZEN OR MORE DEATHS RESULT OF FREAK STORM

Freakish Dust Storms Pelt Midwesterners: Big Snow In East

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Death, property damage, and discomfort today marked the trials of two meteorological disturbances—a heavy snow storm in portions of the east and a blinding hard-driven series of freakish dust storms that pelted middlewesterners with dirt.

A dozen or more deaths were attributed to the two attacks by the elements. Seven of the deaths occurred in the Rochester, N. Y., region, blanketed by snow over the week end. One man lost his life off the coast of Cape May, N. J., where a large sank during a gale. Two others were reported drowned at Leamington, Ont., while in New Hampshire a young mountain climber perished from exposure in a snow storm.

Republic, Mich. reported two trappers were believed lost in the vicinity of Granite Lake, while two duck hunters were missing on Lake St. Clair.

Dust Driven By Wind
Driven by high winds, originating over Saskatchewan, the midwest deluge of dust early today was apparently sweeping toward the east, where it was expected to spend itself in rain.

In South Dakota and Minnesota the winds reached gale proportions. At Tracy, Minn. a steel hangar was wrecked and smaller structures were damaged. Property damage was also reported in St. Paul, Omaha, Minneapolis and Des Moines. Airplanes were held to the ground in Kansas City and St. Louis.

A scaffold topped at Clinton, Iowa, killing Raymond L. Ross, 29, of Los Angeles. Laurence Linn, 27, of near Whitehall, Ill., lost his life when he walked in front of an automobile while blinded by dust.

The swirling dust caught the crowds at the closing night at Chicago's Century of Progress, sending scores of men, women and children to the Fair's hospital for eye treatment.

MANSFIELD, O., NEWSPAPER WAS BOMBED SUNDAY

Probable Retaliation For Paper's Drive On Racketeers

Mansfield, O., Nov. 13—(AP)—Two telephone messages received at the home of G. J. Kochenderfer, editor of the Mansfield News-Journal and a vigorous campaigner against racketeers, were the center of a bombing investigation today of a bombing at the newspaper's plant. The bomb tore up the newspaper's mailing room early yesterday but did not harm the presses. News-Journal officials estimated the damage at about $1,000 but were unable to ascribe the act to any suspects.

The first message, "lay off or you'll get yours," was received by Kochenderfer eight hours before the blast. The second, "how did you like the present? We have plenty more of them," was received by his wife several hours after the bombing. Police adopted a theory that racketeers were responsible for the fifth bombing act directed against Mansfield papers in five years.

Springfield Police Investigate Eight Mysterious Blazes

Springfield police are investigating a series of eight mysterious fires that have broken out in the city in the past week. The latest, apparently a deliberate attempt, occurred at the home of Mrs. Blanch Jennings when she and her daughter were awakened by smoke. It was discovered an inflammable liquid had been tossed against the side of the house.

Oregon Man Went To Death In River Tragedy Yesterday

David Thayer, 47, of Oregon was drowned Sunday when a boat in which he and Dan Miller and Glen Lowry were repairing a sand pump in the Rock river capsized. His widow, two sons and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thayer survive. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Farrell undertaking houses.

Score Of Cattle Burn To Death At Illinois Hospital

Twenty head of cattle were burned to death when flames swept three barns at farm colony No. 1 of the state hospital at Bartonville Sunday. The loss was estimated by officials at $30,000. The cause was held to spontaneous combustion by authorities.

Today Is 24th Anniversary Of Cherry's Disaster

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13—(AP)—Twenty-four years ago today fire swept the St. Paul Coal Company's mine at Cherry, Ill., and left 256 dead in its wake.

That was the greatest mine disaster ever to take place in Illinois. No other disaster, either before or since, whether resulting from fire, explosion or water, has taken such a toll of life in the state.

Four hundred eighty-one miners went down into the Cherry mine the morning of November 13, 1909. That afternoon a mine car, loaded with baled hay for the mules, was stopped near a burning torch. The hay caught on fire. Little difficulty in extinguishing the flame was anticipated, however, so no alarm was immediately given.

Before long the mine was an inferno. Many men made their way to safety. About as many others were unable to penetrate the smoke and flame. The fire raged for days. Seven days later a rescue party made its way through the mine. Twenty-one men, who had fled into an entry and waited it out behind themselves, were rescued alive. All others were dead.

There have been five mine accidents in Illinois in which 50 lives or more were taken. They include the drowning of 69 men Feb. 16, 1883, at Bradwood. A gas explosion at Zeigler killed 30 miners April 3, 1905. Another explosion caused 52 deaths at Royalton Oct. 27, 1914, and 53 were killed last Christmas Eve when an explosion wrecked the Moweaqua, Ill., mine.

HEIRESS BADLY HURT IN FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Mother of Mrs. Merry Eiszner Tells Of Her Injuries

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—Mrs. Merry Fahney Parker-Pickering Eiszner, 33-year-old heiress, was in a critical condition today as result of the automobile accident in which her brother-in-law was killed following her recent wedding. The young woman's mother, Mrs. E. L. Fahney, revealed yesterday that her daughter had been seriously injured, suffering concussion of the brain, a dislocated spine, three fractured ribs and body bruises. It was originally reported that she had escaped unhurt.

Robert Blackburn passed away at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blackburn, 322 Sixth street Sunday afternoon at 1:15, death being due to pneumonia. His mother preceded him in death three years ago and his father, five years ago. One brother, Charles, aged 7, survives. "Bobby" was five years of age, having been born in Glen Ellyn, Feb. 12, 1928. Funeral services will be held from the home at 9 o'clock and from St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9:30 Tuesday morning with interment in Oakwood.

Tennessee Public Works Engineer Fired By Secretary Ickes Today; Intimated Loans Need Not Be Paid

Washington, Nov. 13—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today dismissed Harry S. Berry, Public Works engineer for the state of Tennessee, asserting that Berry in a circular letter to civic organizations had expressed the opinion loans for non-federal projects would not have to be repaid. The circular letter, a statement by Ickes said, was written on a letter-head of the Tennessee State Public Works Advisory Board. Ickes, in a telegram to Berry,

WOMAN SOUGHT IN MASSACRE IN K. C. IS CAUGHT

Accused Of Phoning Information Leading To Killings

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 13—(AP)—A woman described by police as Mrs. E. B. Conner, under indictment at Kansas City in connection with the Kansas City massacre, was captured here today. Federal operatives said Mrs. Conner is the woman who telephoned from Hot Springs, Ark., to Kansas City to give the gangsters the information that resulted in the massacre in which four officers and Frank Nash were killed in front of the Union Station on June 17.

Police said they had hoped they would arrest either Ralph Underhill or Verne Miller, the Kansas City machine gunner, but if either had been in hiding here, they were gone when officers staged their raid on a dinner club on the outskirts of the city.

Another woman was taken into custody with Mrs. Conner, but police withheld her name on the theory she was not involved in the case.

Say She Gave Tip
George (Machine Gun) Kelly was captured here with his wife, Kathryn, September 26.

Federal operatives said Mrs. Conner was living at Hot Springs when Nash was captured there and taken back to Kansas City. They accuse her of telephoning gangsters at Kansas City and giving them the exact hour their train was due to arrive in Kansas City, together with the train number.

The gangsters met the train and Nash and five others were shot down in a rain of machine gun fire. She was later indicted by a federal grand jury at Kansas City. Federal operatives said she was also known as Lou Conner, Geraldine Conner, Mrs. Ed Conner and Louise Conner.

BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN, BEATEN AND SHOT, FOUND

St. Louis Authorities Without Clew In New Mystery

St. Louis, Nov. 13—(AP)—An unidentified woman about 30 years old, slender and well dressed, was found shot and beaten to death today 200 yards from a golf clubhouse in fashionable University City, a suburb. The body was found in plain view of a highway near the University City golf course by Vance C. Lischer and Herbert Hartung, who were en route to work. Police, after a cursory examination, said the woman had been dead more than three hours.

A bullet apparently had been fired through the victim's head as she lay on the ground. A revolver was near by. Facial features of the woman were obscured by a beating and blood stains.

The body was attired a brown tweed suit. A partly burned cigarette was held tightly between the index and third fingers of the right hand.

Storm Is Cause Of Rock Island Man's Death: Wife Is Hurt

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 13—(AP)—Abraham L. Blitt, 48, is dead and his wife, Sarah, 48, is in a hospital as the result of being struck by a taxicab last night while crossing a street.

Swirling dust and leaves in the worst dust storm which has struck the tri-city vicinity for years is held responsible for the accident.

Mrs. Stella Keller Died Saturday Eve

Mrs. Stella May Keller passed away about 10 o'clock Saturday evening at her home, 510 North Dixon avenue, death resulting from pneumonia. The deceased was born at Dongola, Ill., August 29, 1883. The body was taken to Dongola Sunday where interment took place in the Friendship cemetery.

FIVE KENTUCKY MEN WILL FACE MURDER CHARGE

Aftermath Of Pistol Battles Staged Election Day

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13—(AP)—The impulse to settle the issue with a bullet that cost Kentucky 14 lives in the August primary and 18 on November 7, election day, left five men in jail on murder charges, two fugitives from murder warrants and two others unidentified and still at large today.

But there will be no trial in Kentucky courts for the participants in the bloodiest clash of the November election. All five who took guns to settle their dispute near the little town of Layman in the Harlan county coal fields are dead. They shot too straight. Two died before the last shots were fired and the other three succumbed that night.

Careful checkup with county officers today had disclosed that nine of the killings were believed to be directly attributable to election quarrels. Investigation indicated the other nine slayings were due to different causes or only indirectly the result of the balloting. In some of these it appeared that men brought face to face in coming in from the hills to vote, settled old issues. But regardless of the causes, most of the victims left widows and orphans.

Auto Salesman Is Found Dead In Road House At Champaign

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 13—(AP)—Authorities today were investigating the death of Robert Brooks, 30, Champaign auto salesman, whose body was found early this morning near a road house at Five Points on state highway No. 39.

Brooks apparently had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument. State's Attorney W. E. Gilmore and Sheriff Fred Shoaf, working on the theory that Brooks had engaged in a quarrel last night, were questioning employees and patrons of the road house.

Dynamite Blast Is Cause Two Deaths

Joliet—Anthony Cambruzzi, 38, and Joseph Pissinis, 30, both of Joliet were drowned when a charge of dynamite which they had placed in a pier of a railroad trestle they were raising, exploded unexpectedly. Two others, John Varanda, coal city and Van Barga, Joliet, also were thrown into the Des Plaines river but were rescued.

Two U. I. Students Injured In Upset

Kankakee—Delbert McKinney, 22, Fannington, and James Rutherford, Mt. Vernon, both University of Illinois students, were injured when their automobile upset after a tire blowout while en route to Chicago Sunday. Local hospital attaches said McKinney may have a fractured skull.

Lindberghs Lost Way Over Spain

Madrid, Nov. 13—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, landed safely today near Cadeias de Tuy, province of Pontevedra, on a flight across Spain.

Original reports were that the American fliers, who took off from Santona, Spain, for Portugal, had been forced down near the little village at the foot of the mountains.

The Lindberghs descended to a landing because they lost their way in the clouds and rain which enveloped the Spanish coast.

The Colonel landed his plane expertly on the sheltered bay near the fishing village and he and his wife said they expected to spend the night there before proceeding tomorrow morning to Lisbon, provided the weather clears up sufficiently to permit a flight at that time.

Last Good Chance To See Leonids In Quantity Until '66

Philadelphia, Nov. 13—(AP)—Three all-night watches for meteors will be held this week—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—by astronomers from Massachusetts to Oregon.

They will look for the long-lost rain of Leonid Meteors. Last year was the favored date of this outburst of shooting stars, but not many of them appeared. So astronomers calculate that there is still a chance for them this year. Even though no great rain of fire appears, they are confident that some good meteors can be seen in the northeast, after midnight, especially on Wednesday.

Astronomers think this week is the last good chance for Leonids in any quantity until about 1966.

Three-Year Old Heroine Saves Lives Of Brother And Sister Last Evening

YOUTH FATALLY HURT BY CRUSH AT GRID GAME

Body Found In Stadium At Princeton After Saturday's Game

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 13—(AP)—County authorities, seeking a solution of the strange death of Jay F. Towner, 3rd, still held today to the theory the 23-year-old youth from Perryman, Md., was fatally injured in the crush of the dense crowd leaving Palmer Stadium after the Princeton-Dartmouth game.

County Coroner Frank Grove and County Detective James Kirkham were hopeful that the day would produce evidence substantiating their explanation of a fatality unique in football history.

Although without tangible clues in the case, and in the face of blunt skepticism expressed by Towner's family, the two officials have reconstructed the events leading up to Towner's death as follows:

The youth was leaving Palmer Stadium after the game and had almost reached the ground end of ramp 22 when the press of the crowd crushed him against a concrete abutment. In an effort to free himself, he placed both hands on the abutment and sought to push his way out, but the crush was so great that both his wrists were broken and he was jammed back against the abutment, suffering the ruptured liver and spleen which caused the fatal internal hemorrhages.

Towner, a former John Hopkins student, then fell to the ground at the ramp entrance, so the theory runs, and lay there until some one noticed his condition and picked him up, apparently to take him to the university infirmary 500 yards distant.

Officials believe the person who was taking Towner to the infirmary discovered the youth was dead when half the distance was covered and, panic-stricken, abandoned the body on the campus in the rear of Goyot Hall, where it was found by watchman later Saturday night.

GIRL ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF RURAL CARRIER

Said She Shot U. S. Employee When He Attacked Her

Edwardsville, Ill., Nov. 13—(AP)—Selection of a jury to try Stella Christoff, 17, daughter of a truck farmer, for the murder of Nelson H. Voss, rural mail carrier, was begun here today before a packed court room.

The girl confessed at the time of her arrest July 31 that she had shot Voss to death July 13 when he attempted to make advances toward her as she and a sister were squirrel hunting. According to her confession, Voss got out of the automobile in which he was carrying mail, and led her away from the road and into a field.

The body of the mail carrier was found lying at the edge of a creek and suspicion was directed to the Voss family by the discovery of a small pocket knife which was identified as one given to a brother of Stella Christoff last Christmas.

The mail carrier's mother and widow were in the court room and wept when State's Attorney L. M. Geers, informed the jury of the nature of the case.

Railroad Worker Killed His Wife

East St. Louis, Nov. 13—(AP)—Miss Mabel Coper, 24, beauty shop employee, was shot and killed here today by Forest Young, 37, a railroad switchman, who told police he was her estranged husband.

Young, who surrendered after the shooting, said: "She was unfaithful. It was the only way out that I could see." Later, police related, he said he apparently had "done the wrong thing."

The woman was shot to death in the beauty shop where she was employed. Police found her, clad in a white uniform, lying on the floor. She died in a hospital.

Ride In Rented Plane To Wind Up An All-Night Dance, Proved Fatal To Three Friends Of Pilot

New York, Nov. 13—(AP)—An airplane joy ride turned to tragedy when Stanley Kitkowski, 19-year-old pilot, took three of his friends on an all-night jaunt to top off an all-night dance.

The plane crashed into a Brooklyn tenement house and the three friends were killed. The pilot himself was near death from injuries. The dead were Louis H. Kuhn, 19; Henry Rothabowski, 21; and Adam Rowenski, 21, all of Brooklyn.

The four youths left an Armistice Day dance at dawn Sunday,

Terse Items Of News Gathered In Dixon During Day

LADIES TO BOWL
The Ladies Handicap bowling league will resume play at the Recreation alleys this evening at 8 o'clock. Jones Grocers meeting the Black Hawks and the Wolverines playing Woolworth's store.

NEW FARM MANAGER
Harry Covert of Palmyra township, Saturday assumed the position of farm managers at the Dixon state hospital, being one of several new Democratic appointees at the institution. Mr. Covert replaces J. E. Peterson, who has served very creditably at the state hospital since October, 1919.

BENEFIT BOXING SHOW
The Dixon Unemployed association are sponsoring a boxing and wrestling show to be held at the Ottawa avenue arena on Wednesday evening, Nov. 22. The proceeds from the show will be applied to the milk fund and the Dixon Athletic club have donated the arena for the program to be announced later.

TRUCK OVERLOADED
State Highway Officers Edward Mahan and Rex Flach were on duty west of DeKalb on the Lincoln Highway Sunday night weighing trucks, with several other highway officers of the district. One driver, operating one of the fleet of Hartle Trucking Company trucks, of Sioux City, Iowa, was arrested and taken to DeKalb where he was fined $100 and costs, it being the fourth similar offense by this company's trucks, according to the officers. The scales were said to have shown an overload of almost two tons on one axle.

SHOT MARKED DUCK
L. E. "Egg" Etnyre, Hennepin avenue grocer, went duck hunting for the first time in 14 years Sunday morning and according to his companions, enjoyed a very successful early morning outing. The duck hunting expedition was staged in one of the blinds on the Lester Hoyle farm in Palmyra township. Mr. Etnyre brought down a black mallard hen which bore a heavy aluminum leg band which bore the following inscription: "Notify Biological Survey, Washington, D. C., B-633310," which he is forwarding to the government survey today.

RUSH BUILDINGS
Dixon visitors to the state park at The Pines Sunday were greatly interested in the erection of the Civilian Conservation Corps camp there. During the week fifteen frame buildings were erected to house between 250 and 300 young men the government expects to move into the park by Dec. 1. The buildings consist of six dormitories, kitchens, dining halls, offices, etc., and the firm of Kline & Heckman of this city has the contract for the installation of the plumbing in all.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARIES
Attempts were made to enter two down town places of business over the week end according to reports at the police station. Saturday night heavy wire netting over windows at the Edwards book store were cut, but the activities of the would-be thieves were discovered before they had completed their work.

Some time early Sunday evening an attempt was made to jimmy the door at the Bales & Wilhelm barber shop, which proved unsuccessful.

An attempt to force a window in the corridor at the entrance to the Dixon public library was also unsuccessful, it was reported to the police today.

Agents of the Federal Surplus Relief Administration and the Farm Credit Administration purchased 19,000 hogs on the Chicago market last Saturday, at from $4.35 to $4.50 per hog averaging 250 pounds each.

Although denials of such purchases were made Saturday, it was asserted by the relief agency today that the purchases by Captain E. H. Cope, Assistant Director of Procurement for the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation, and S. U. Baxter of the Farm Credit Administration—relieved a situation created by a sellers' strike on the Chicago market.

For several days there have been no sizeable hog purchases on the Chicago market, and it was stated today that when the two men went to Chicago to handle distribution of wheat allotment for animal feed in drought areas, they found such a serious situation that they asked permission to intervene and it was given.

The meat from the hogs will be cured as smoked Wilshire sides by a Chicago packing house and will be distributed to needy unemployed.

The announcement today said that processing had been arranged for and that the action was a part of a joint program of the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

LEGION MEETS WEDNESDAY
A regular meeting of Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. The local post has now reached the goal of its membership drive, reaching on Armistice Day a number of paid up members equal to the total membership of the year just ended. Prospects for a record breaking year in Legion activities are very bright in Illinois, partly, at least, due to the fact that the new national commander hails from this state.

Stripped Flowers
From Texas' Coffin

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Texas Guinan, queen of the night clubs, lay at rest today in Gate of Heaven cemetery, and of the thousands of flowers that blanketed her coffin not one remained.

They were snatched away yesterday by an hysterical mob of 2,000 women who rushed a receiving vault and carried them away as mementos.

A short time earlier ten persons were injured when an automobile that accompanied the funeral procession from Broadway collided with another car. No one was seriously hurt but five, showgirl friends of Miss Guinan, suffered cuts that required hospital treatment.

The beautiful day yesterday brought great crowds to all services. The Bible school had 307 in attendance. Five adult classes had the following attendance: Philoia, 48; Men, 36; Upstreamers, 36; Young Men, 28 and True Blue, 25.

The Young Men's Class will hold their monthly business meeting and social at the church at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

The Missionary Guild will meet with Mrs. O. D. Flanningham, 802 W. First Street Tuesday evening.

All day meeting of the Ladies Aid Society Wednesday.

Prayer meeting at 7:30 Wednesday evening. Read Hebrews 2 and 9. James G. Leach will lead the Bible study.

The Upstreamers class will meet with Mrs. Smythe, 716 College Ave., Thursday evening at 7:00 to read for the forthcoming bazaar. Members are requested to bring all kinds of scraps, and prints, trimmings, scissors, needles and thread.

On Friday they will hold an all day meeting with scrambled dinner at Mrs. M. C. Neer's, 505 West 8th St. and it is to be a quilting party.

Choir rehearsal at 7:15 Friday evening.

Again this year the ladies of the church are planning to send donations of cookies to the Old Folks Home at Jacksonville and the Children's Home at St. Louis in time for Thanksgiving. Bring your donations to the church Nov. 22, where they will be packed for shipping.

John Fellows will be charged. The World Fellowship Conference of young people will be held in our city Nov. 24-26. More than a hundred young people from the northern half of the state are expected.

BOY SCOUT NEWS
TROOP 89 WILL MEET
Boy Scout troop No. 89 will hold its regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening at 7:15 in the parlors of the Christian church. All Boy Scouts associated with the troop are invited to attend. Registration of this troop for the coming year will start at this meeting and must be completed by Dec. 10.

CUB SCOUTS ENTERTAINED
Through the courtesy of Mrs. Harry Schuler and Mrs. Johnson, Cub Scouts of Den No. 1 of the Christian church had a very interesting meeting Saturday evening at the Schuler residence in the form of a Scout supper. One hundred per cent attendance was reported and the evening was well spent in the Cub work and games. Clubmaster Kenneth Abbott was in charge and told several Paul Bunyan and Indian stories to the Cubs. The next regular meeting will be on Wednesday at 4 o'clock at the Cub room in the Schuler home on East Fellows street.

COSTUMES GAIN NEW EFFECTS WITH FUR TRIMMINGS

A diminutive ermine collar puts the finishing touches on Lelong's charming afternoon frock of soft beige and brown plaid velvet.

Worth sponsors this jerkin of panther with a dark brown velvet dress and jacket, brown velvet beret and gloves.

By ROSSETTE HARGROVE
Paris, Nov. 13.—It used to be the ambition of most women years ago to own a long and luxurious fur coat.

Nowadays, when it is no longer an absolutely unobtainable ambition, women seldom consider the acquisition of a fur coat except in very severe climates. As a matter of fact, while fur is and always will be an important element of winter fashions, it has come to the point this season where neither the value nor quantity of fur matter half as much as the way in which it is treated.

Even the traditional idea that a fur collar should frame the face has gone to the winds this season. Somebody decreed that the feminine neck should emerge like a fragile stem from collars of both suits and coats. Whether this new fashion will hold against the winter blasts in store for us later on is another story. The fact remains that even the long and luxurious pelts such as the various specimens of foxes and lynx appear in the form of long, thin boas or lies "a la Schiaparelli," of epaulettes, or offer such other alternatives as spiral trimmings on sleeves and hems on capes. And if they do figure anywhere near the neck, they just barely reach the chin and fall like a lei at the back of the coat.

Flat furs rival the long-haired specimens as a trimming for both suits and coats. Curacul, astrakhan, shaved lamb, broadtail, seal, civet and other wild cats offer a very wide choice.

All these new tricks offer an unlimited number of possibilities for the modernizing of a suit or coat, as the styles are not so different from last year's except in this one domain of the fur trimming. Provided the line is sufficiently moderately molded and not too tricky, the fur can be depended upon to turn the trick of making over a not-so-new coat into something of the latest vintage.

The new rough wools are best suited to all the flat furs. Satin, silks, ottomans, cloth and velvet go well with fox, ermine, broadtail, and the finer kinds of Persian lamb.

Muffs are decidedly still very fashionable. Gloves with rather voluminous fur cuffs to match the coat or jacket trimming, and which can be turned down to form a muff, figure among the new fashion gadgets.

Miss Lord Entertains Unity Guild

The Unity Guild members held a very pleasant all day meeting last Thursday with Miss Mae Lord. The attendance was very good, at noon the usual delicious picnic dinner was served. The members were busily engaged finishing the very pretty Dresden plate quilt, for the bazaar to be held in Dr. Bradley's church in Chicago, this month.

A short business meeting was held, the secretary and treasurer's reports were given, and bills voted to be paid. Three members gave an interesting report of the luncheon attended in Stockton on Tuesday with Mrs. Della Simmons and her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Hill, and the enjoyable day with them.

The December meeting will be held with Mrs. C. E. Herrick.

L. of W. Voters Conference Galesburg At Club Wednesday

The Illinois League of Women Voters has arranged with the Knox County League to hold a regional conference at Galesburg on Nov. 15 to discuss various matters of our current interest on its program. The meetings will be held at the Galesburg club.

Conducting the two round tables of the conference will be Mrs. Ralph B. Treadway of Glen Ellyn, Chairman for Regional Conferences of the Illinois League of Women Voters whose subject will be "Education," and Mrs. W. W. Ramsey of Chicago, on "Efficiency in Government."

Some of the particular questions to be discussed in the round table led by Mrs. Treadway will deal with the inequalities in the educational opportunities offered the children of Illinois, what they are and why they exist; also, a consideration of their relation to an increase in the State School Distributive Fund.

Mrs. Ramsey's discussion will cover points regarding an Illinois constitutional convention, sources of revenues in the state; the legislative possibilities in Illinois at the present time for shortening the ballot.

Mrs. J. A. Campbell of Galesburg, President of the Knox County League is acting as hostess to the following Leagues who have been asked to participate in this conference: Peoria county, Miss Estella Harmel, President; Rock Island county, Mrs. Stephen Spencer, President; Tazewell county, Mrs. C. W. Gray of Pekin, President; McDonough county, Mrs. P. C. Donegan of Macomb, President. In addition, League members from the adjoining counties of Henry, Mercer, Stark and Warren have been invited to attend.

The speakers at the luncheon Wednesday will be Mrs. Treadway on "Education for Responsible Citizenship" and Mrs. Ramsey, "Legislative Defects and Victories in the League's Program." As both Mrs. Treadway and Mrs. Ramsey are experienced speakers who have a thorough knowledge of their subjects this luncheon promises to be exceedingly interesting.

Mrs. Reuben S. Tower, which they will quietly pass at their home one mile north of Chana, Wednesday, November 16.

The Tower family has been nearly three centuries in America. John Tower came to New England in 1637 and settled in Hingham, 30 miles south of Boston, Mass. The home he built there had been occupied continuously by his descendants and is still a comfortable dwelling.

Reuben S. Tower was born in 1845 his parents being Peter G. and Sarah (Smith) Tower. He is in the tenth generation from John Tower. One of his characteristics of the Tower family is long life. John Tower, the founder of the family in America, lived to the age of 92, and the average age reached by the men in direct line from John to Reuben S. is 82 years.

Mrs. Tower also comes of a long line of New England ancestors, many of whom 200 or more years ago were pioneers in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont. Her badge of the Daughters of the Revolutionary War has attached to it six bars, each representing one of her ancestors who served in the Revolutionary War. She is at present a member of the Rochelle chapter, D. A. R. She was born at Bennington, Vt., in 1850, the daughter of Lafayette and Rhoda Stratton, and was named for Susan Chase Lyons in honor of a favorite aunt. She is the only daughter in a family of seven children.

CHECKING UP ON THE DEMOCRATS.

(The Minneapolis Tribune.)

The notion that party platforms are constructed to win elections, and not primarily to stand upon after victories have been won, had much to substantiate it long before the Roosevelt administration came into power. Both parties have laboriously built them with tongue in cheek and each has assailed the other, on innumerable occasions, for breaking pledges which were never intended to be kept with solemn literalness. This is a story as old as American politics, and yet it still reckoned good party strategy to drag forth the opposition's platform and submit it to a thoroughgoing scrutiny in the light of subsequent achievements.

It is hardly surprising, therefore, that the long quiescent Republican national committee should express its first sense of shock and horror over the failure of the Roosevelt administration to respect the Democratic platform. The counts in the Republican indictment are many, and some of them, it may fairly be said, have more than pure partisan bias to foundation them. Mr. Roosevelt, it is charged, signed the inflation bill and is even now moving toward a managed currency in the face of a platform pledge to preserve a sound currency at all hazards. The complaint is further made that he has failed to reduce federal expenditures by 25 per cent; that the administration has deceived the taxpayer by keeping two sets of books; that where it pledged itself to lower tariffs it is actually laying plans to raise them. The President, again, was once opposed to taxing foodstuffs, and yet the processing tax, which is indisputably a levy on foods, is a cardinal part of his farm relief program.

These and other charges are hurled at the administration by the Republican national committee. If the Democratic leaders as reported, have been spoiling for a rousing party fight in order to dramatize issues and further rally public opinion behind the President, they should be eminently pleased by this sudden turn of events. How effective their defense will be can only be guessed, but it is a fair certainty that a categorical denial of the charges will involve some tall explaining.

The truth is that it is quite impossible to reconcile Mr. Roosevelt's policy of "bold experimentation" with the hard and fast limits of the Democratic platform on which he was elected. The President cheerfully confesses that he is proceeding on a trial and error basis; that if one plan will not work, he will not hesitate to substitute another; that his policies are fluid enough so that they may be conformed to the particular needs of the moment. In the face of this it would be futile to deny that the platform adopted at Chicago has lost much of its pertinence. A party which is pouring its plans from one test tube to another in the economic laboratory obviously cannot be too respectful of formulae which seemed to suffice a year or more ago.

So it will hardly do to dismiss the Republican national committee as a group of disgruntled party prevaricators. A more forthright course would be to admit that circumstances have altered cases, and that in such instances as the Democratic platform has been abandoned it has been because of unforeseen emergencies. That would tend to thicken the atmosphere of cynicism which surrounds the subject of party platforms in general, but it would also justify, in the minds of many, administration policies which cannot possibly be squared with the commitments made at Chicago more than 15 months ago.

ANOTHER BIG PUSH.

The Public Works Administration's $135,000,000 loan to the railroads for new construction and new equipment well may turn out to be one of the biggest factors in bringing about industrial recovery.

To begin with, $51,000,000 goes directly to the steel industry. An order of that size cannot fail to bring that industry a strong revival; and it is axiomatic that a flourishing steel industry means good business in many other lines as well.

Furthermore, the new construction which the loan makes possible will affect a number of industries. It means the reemployment of a great many idle men—20,000 within a month, according to one estimate.

All in all, the loan ought to have an exceedingly good effect on general industrial recovery.

AN ISLAND FOR CRIMINALS.

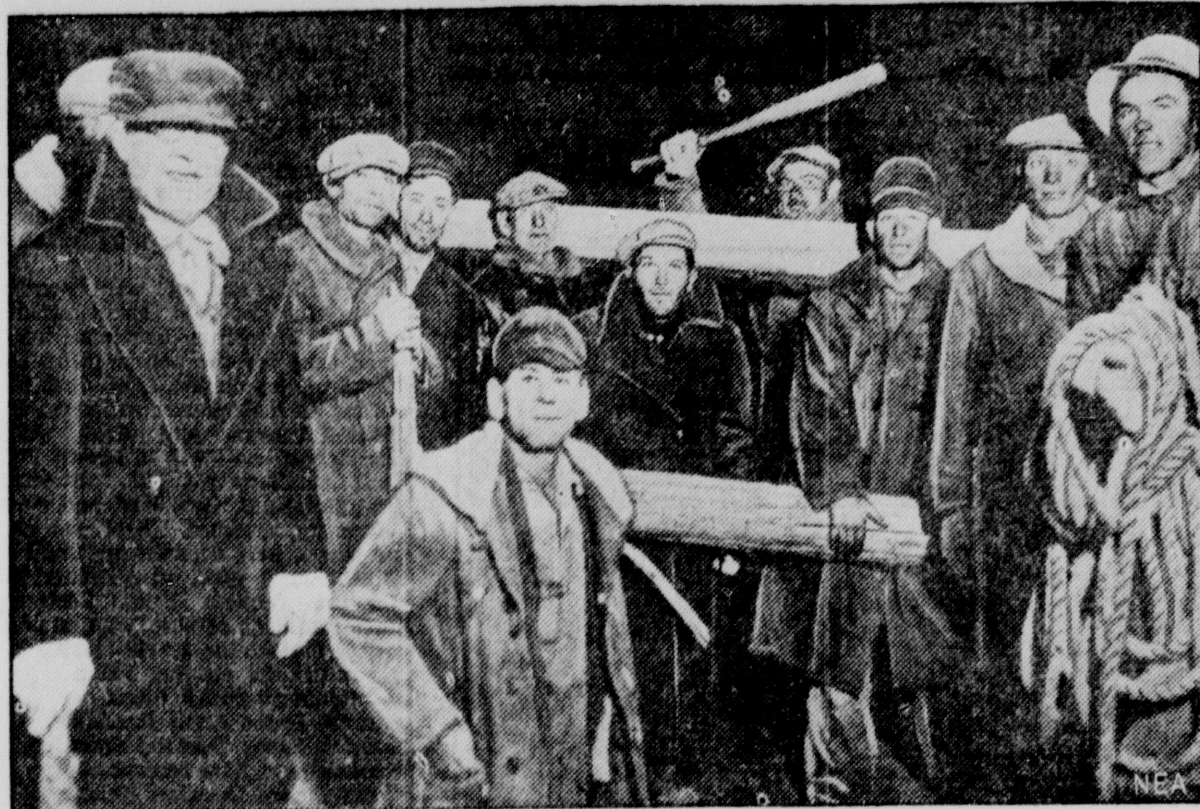

Off the western coast is an island that is regarded as suitable for prison purposes, where the members of organized criminal gangs can not communicate with the outside world.

Only those who have had experience in penal institutions know what close touch is kept by men on the inside with affairs on the outside. Information by the "grapevine" route goes through stone walls in a manner that is puzzling.

Perhaps an island location for a prison will be effective in cutting off communication, and perhaps it will not.

Everyday Religion

Three times in my life the same dream has visited me, each time more vividly than before. In Iowa, in London, in New York, the same dream subdued me to a wonder: akin to worship, to such a sense of awe and exaltation that it seemed like a dream than a vision. In my dream I am in a vast cathedral, dim rather than dark,

Special Mass Celebrates Rome's Mass Marriages

The wedding march was the popular tune of the day when 5,000 men and women were the principals in mass weddings throughout Italy, following the appeal of Premier Mussolini for more marriages and more children to repopulate the nation. In Rome 700 couples were married at their various parishes, and the brides and grooms here are pictured as they all assembled in the church of Santa Maria Degli Angeli for the celebration of a special mass.

mellow with age and tender, as if it remembered all the prayers it has heard. It is beautiful, but I feel its beauty rather than see it—feel the lift of its pillars, the leap of its arches, and its lofty spaces where the shadow of God seems to hover and linger.

It is quiet with an intense stillness; not a sound is heard. Near the great door, where I am standing, the high altar ought to be seen in its glory. But it is hidden, not in darkness, but in light. A Presence is there—"no Face, but only a sweeping garment vast and white, and a hem that I can recognize"; a seamless robe of light. No voice is heard; but, somehow, I know Who it is and what He is saying.

Hardly less remarkable is the congregation gathered there, the like of which no mortal ever saw—save in a dream. Not only are "the glorious company of apostles, prophets and martyrs" there, but hoary seers from the ancient world and grave sages from India, Arabia, China; men of many ages and lands who have sought to know the truth and do it.

Some faces I see in profile. Moses, Buddha, Confucius, Socrates, Plato, Plutarch, and the saints of the church. But others too, are there. Plotinus, Voltaire, Spinoza, Emerson, Lincoln whose names are not in the calendar. Yet all listen reverently and silently give assent in an unspoken Amen to what the Speaker is saying.

Is it only a dream, a projection in picture-drama of what is deepest in my thought and faith and hope? Or is clearer vision given us in our dreams, which is denied to our waking selves? Mayhap, if I am counted worthy, it will come again, and if so I pray that I may hear a tone of that Voice, telling the truth that makes all truth true!

Very few of the "shooting stars" that are observed ever fall upon the earth. Most of them are completely consumed by frictional heat and dissolved into gases during their rapid flight through the air. Those that do occasionally reach land in solid form do so in the form of blackened masses of stone or metal.

The Thunder Man laughed long and loud, and said, "No wonder, I am proud! Why, I send thunder rolling down upon the earth below."

"You see, whenever thunder roars, most everybody runs indoors. It makes me laugh to think that I can make them run. Ho, ho!"

"I don't see why I think that is fun," said Doty. "To scare every one?" Then to the Tinymites she said, "Let's not beat any more."

"Although he thinks it's pretty slick, let's not take part in his mean trick. The thunder drum is his, so let him make the thunder roar."

The Tinymites agreed that she was just as right as she could be. The Thunder Man just smiled, though, and exclaimed, "Well, I'll quiet too."

"Of thunder we have had enough. Now I'll show you some other stuff. You will be surprised when you see the many things I do."

He led them to a little box and said, "I'm clever as a fox. Now, guess what is inside of it, before I demonstrate."

"Don't try to peek, and snoop around. And, please don't shake it, for some sound." Then Doty cried, "Please hurry up! Gee, I can hardly wait."

"Oh, you will be the first, to kick when, once again, I prove I am slick. You see, there are two little wires. Now, keep your eyes on me."

"I'm going to make long streaks of light, I hope they won't fill you with fright. The streaks will just be lightning, that the folks on earth can see."

He held the wires real close, and then the Tinies were surprised again, because everything he said came true. The sparks began to fly.

"Ho, ho!" The Thunder Man cried out. "There is lightning flashing all about. Just watch it shoot out into space and light up all the sky."

DIXON WINDS UP ITS CONFERENCE GAMES WITH WIN

Triumphed Over Barb City High Saturday
By 14-0 Score

By BRADLEY MOLL
Saturday, Nov. 11, saw the wind-up of the conference football schedule, with Dixon battling DeKalb to a 14 to 0 shut out on the DeKalb gridiron, the game being the feature of the annual homecoming event.

The heavyweight game followed the preliminary event, which terminated in a 0 to 0 score. Although the weather was cloudy, and a raw wind cut into the grand stand, making it a trifle discomforting for the spectators, the temperature was just right to pep up the participants on both sides.

The defeat of DeKalb Saturday acted doubly on the DeKalb spirit, as it was the homecoming game and the advance reports pointed to a Dixon defeat. In spite of the promise for a good game and the climax of their season, the DeKalb fans turned out rather poorly, and the greater burden of moral support rested with their high school band, which rendered several selections during both games.

Regardless of all previous scores DeKalb proved an able and hard hitting crew. They tackled hard and blocked neatly through the whole game. Their aerial attack proved weaker than Dixon's and their line failed to hold against Dixon's smashes. However, with their fast backfield, they on several occasions gave Dixon something to worry about, with the fast return of a kick, or a shifty end run. DeKalb no doubt was pointed to beat Dixon, but the locals displayed a superior brand of football and played one of their best games of the season.

Again Coach Lindell's boys showed team work and the determination to give them the points they needed to win. Gradually, the Dixon eleven has been hitting harder and has showed marked improvement over the preceding games. With this in mind, Coach Lindell and his squad are preparing to show Sterling some superior football on Thanksgiving day.

First Quarter
The purple and white received the kick off and after advancing well out of their territory, kicked, after having been held for no gain for two downs. The exchanges were always marked with an advantage for Dixon. Underwood's punts always having a greater length than those of the DeKalb kicker.

Again with the ball in their possession, Dixon slashed at DeKalb and Kennedy picked up the first down. Two more followed in rapid succession and in spite of the rapid play, Dixon was stopped on the DeKalb 25-yard line.

The first break of the day occurred when DeKalb lost the ball on a short punt on their own 37 yard line. Dixon then saw a chance for a goal and Underwood in a familiar dodging run, picked up 11 yards and a first down, leaving the ball on DeKalb's 26 yard line. The next play found Dixon's mottled and Underwood dropped back and threw a long pass to Belows, who cut the safety man wide and netted Dixon six points.

The point after touchdown failed and the quarter ended.

Second Quarter
The plays of the second quarter revealed that DeKalb's ground gains were slowed up by the Dixon line on several occasions. The ball was kicked to Dixon, and in due course returned by Underwood and Wilson of DeKalb took it on Dixon's 45 yard line where Dixon kicked for the necessary downs. Dixon was penalized 15 yard on an end run. This left Dixon in an dangerous spot and Underwood kicked and Wilson again returned, hard pressed by battering toward the DeKalb goal.

Third Quarter
The opening minutes of play saw Dixon press DeKalb back and score another touchdown. DeKalb kicked to Dixon and Underwood returned the punt from the 37 to the 12 yard line.

Sanick of DeKalb got way a low kick from his own 10 to the DeKalb 31 yard line. Henry then picked up a first down and then another on the following plays, the ball resting on the 11 yard line. Underwood was smothered on the first play for a nine yard loss, making it second down and 20 yards from goal. The most spectacular play of the day was Henry's deliberate left-handed pass to Belows, who scored the touchdown for Dixon. The attempt for the extra point was unsuccessful and the score rested 14 to 0.

Dixon kicked to DeKalb and Olson, in the succeeding plays ran 27 yards for DeKalb's first down. DeKalb kicked to Dixon who then chucked up their tenth first down. With another exchange of the ball DeKalb picked up another first down. Terwilliger of DeKalb carried the ball for the longest run of the afternoon, 47 yards, to Dixon's 35 yard line and scoring another first down. The closing minutes of the quarter saw DeKalb adopting an aerial attack which proved fruitless. Underwood intercepting the ball across Polo's goal line for the second touchdown which brought the count to 12 and 0.

From this point Amboy played a defensive game, holding Polo back in their own territory the greater part of the time. The third touchdown was made in the third quarter after Art Shippert recovered a Polo fumble on the visitor's 11 yard line. Glessner took the ball on third tries through the line for the final touchdown for the afternoon. Winterland was unable to make the extra point. The game was one of the roughest of the season on the local gridiron. Shippert having been forced to leave the game because of injuries he had sustained during the afternoon. The teams lined up as follows:

White Sox Alter Park to Suit Simmons

Chicago White Sox officials believe that altering the park will make Al Simmons, slugging outfielder, look better. They've changed the $2,000,000 baseball plant to suit the $100,000 ball player, moving home plate 14 feet closer to center field, and reconstructing the infield, as shown above.

Their rally in the final period were still hard pressed by Dixon. Terwilliger's pass was intercepted by Kennedy who plowed 11 yards through the orange and black jerseys. Underwood went for another 11 yards. Henry for six and Dixon kicked over DeKalb's goal line, the ball being brought back to the 20 yard stripe. Terwilliger, the main cog in the DeKalb machine, carried the ball for DeKalb's last first down and the play was resumed.

The closing moments of play saw DeKalb once again adopting an aerial attack. Dixon's backs held the passers in check and after another exchange, the game ended, the ball in Dixon's possession as recipients of DeKalb's last kick.

First downs: Dixon 12; DeKalb, 6.

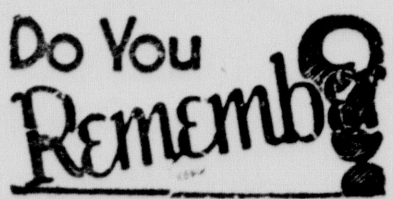

LIGHTWEIGHT GAME
Although evenly matched the B team of Dixon lost at least one touchdown, tumbling in the first half in DeKalb's scoring zone. The game most of the time was a slashing, cut in and out type of play, with Dixon having the slightly superior edge. DeKalb's proximity to scoring was in the fourth quarter when they lost the ball on Dixon's 17 yard line. Dixon made four first downs to their opponents' five and the penalties stood, Dixon 30 yards and DeKalb 35.

The game thus being very close made a good background for the feature event, and inspired the DeKalb fans into believing the regular event would be a repetition of the preceding game.

Barney Ross Takes On Sammy Fuller In Week's Main Battle

New York, Nov. 13—(AP)—Barney Ross steps out in another championship appearance this week but only its junior welterweight crown he'll be risking.

The youthful Chicagoan who won and then successfully defended the lightweight title in two slam-bang battles with Tony Canzoneri, will give Sammy Fuller of Boston a chance at the somewhat synthetic junior welterweight championship in a ten-rounder at the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

On the same night, Madison Square Garden will resume fistic activities featuring a ten-round middleweight bout between Ben Jeby of New York and Young Terry of Trenton, N. J.

Otherwise the national boxing program is marked only by a 16-round non-title bout involving Freddie Miller of Cincinnati, National Boxing Association featherweight king, and Lew Feldman of New York, who once held New York state recognition as world champion in the same division.

They will meet at the Ridgewood Grove arena here Tuesday.

Second Generation Of Cooks Is Helping Fighting Illini Win

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—The second generation of Cooks is winning football games for the Fighting Illini.

Dave Cook, Illinois fullback, who booted the field goal to defeat Northwestern Saturday, is the son of one of Illinois' most famous football and baseball stars, Jimmy Cook.

Jimmy Cook played professional baseball and was an outfielder of the great Indianapolis American Association team of 1908. On the same team, which won the pennant was Donie Bush, Dan Howley, Rube Marquardt, Paddy Livingstone and Charley Carr.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON
Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Ralph Kercheval, Kentucky—Made two touchdowns and three extra points in 21-6 triumph over V. M. I.

BEARS' LEAD IN PRO LEAGUE NOT SO IMPRESSIVE

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—It happens too often under the coaching regime of Harry Kipke to be just "Michigan luck."

He and his smart, hustling Wolverine teams must have something on that football.

As the hard smashing, fast charging Northwesterners from Minnesota prime themselves for a last ditch battle against the Wolverines Saturday and groans about "Michigan luck" are heard from all sectors of the Big Ten, a check-up of the records reveal that it is merely an old fashioned Michigan custom to escape with narrow victories, especially since Kipke took charge of the Maize and Blue force back in 1929.

Since then the Wolverines have won nine Big Ten football battles by margins ranging from one to seven points for an approximate winning average per game of only four points. When they've lost under Kipke—Ohio State turned the trick last in 1931—they have been beaten by seven points or more. So far this season, on the spot almost every game against teams with two weeks rest—they have survived victoriously 7 to 6 a Illinois and 10 to 6 against Iowa.

Hope For "Justice"
Minnesota, which will carry the hopes of Purdue, Ohio State and Illinois Saturday, has been the chief sufferer of heartbreaking defeats by Kipke teams. In 1929 they lost 7 to 6; in 1930, Michigan won 7-0; in 1931, it was Michigan 6, Minnesota 0, and last year the Wolverines triumphed by a field goal, 3 to 0. Thus in four consecutive games against Kipke's men, the Gophers have scored only six points and lost all four by a total average of 4 1-2 points. If there is poetic justice in football, the Minnesota team, improving fast but erratic at times, will make amends Saturday.

Other Teams Hopeful
Or the other teams, which still have hopes of a Michigan defeat and a share in the Big Ten championship, Bob Zuppke's Illini seem to be in the softest spot for next Saturday. Defeated only by Michigan and victors last week over Northwestern, 3 to 0, the Illini meet Chicago at Champaign in a game that should be a tight defensive battle, but a victory for the Illini, Iowa hopes Dick Crayne will recover fully from Saturday's injury to give Purdue, victor over Notre Dame by an impressive 19 to 0 count, a busy afternoon. But the Boilemaker backs look too strong. Ohio State rates a wide call over Wisconsin, but the Badgers come up with at least one great ball game a year, and the Buckeyes may catch it after that long ride to beat Pennsylvania.

One of the bitterest rivalries will be renewed when Notre Dame, a team that can push any ball club all over but can't seem to score, battles Northwestern at Evanston. Indiana goes outside the conference too, to tackle Xavier at Cincinnati.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (adv.)

AMBOY TRIUMPHS OVER POLO 18 TO 0 IN FINAL GAME

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—Slipping back with a defeat and one tie in their two engagements in the east, the Chicago Bears felt their lead falling in the National Professional football championship race today.

The Bears were surprised yesterday as the Philadelphia Eagles threw up a hard defense and then gained a 3-all tie in the final period as Guy Turnbow, former University of Mississippi star, booted a goal from placement. A crowd of 18,000 saw the game which brought the Bears' season record to six victories, one defeat and one tie.

Portsmouth stuck in the championship race by turning back the once powerful Green Bay Packers, 7 to 0, before a crowd of 9,000. Ernest Caddell, formerly of Stanford, carried the ball over for the touchdown in the third period and Glen Pressnell of Nebraska fame added the extra point. The victory gave the Spartans a record of six victories and two defeats.

Played Benefit Game
In a memorial game for the late Major Frank Cavanaugh, war hero and college coach, the New York Giants defeated Boston, 7 to 0, before 30,000. Harry Newman threw a pass from the 15 yard line and Cliff Battles knocked the ball down, only to have "Bo" Molenda grab it and score the only touchdown of the game.

It was estimated that Mrs. Cavanaugh, who was left with seven minor children and no estate upon the death of the "Iron Major" would receive a sum in excess of $15,000 from the game as 40 percent of the receipts were to go to her.

Shipwreck Kelly and his Brooklyn mates celebrated the advent of Sabbath sports in Pittsburgh by crushing the Pirates, 31 to 0, before more than 12,000 fans. Kelly scored three of the Dodge touchdowns.

In a drab game at Chicago the Cincinnati Reds scored their first victory of the season by defeating the Cardinals, 12 to 9.

LEADING SCORERS ON NATION'S COLLEGE FOOTBALL BATTLEGROUND

(By The Associated Press)

Pete Young, Bluefield College halfback, scored his 16th touchdown of the season last week to increase his lead in the race for national football scoring honors.

Young's 96 points give him an edge of 18 points over Kent of Murray (Ky.) Teachers who failed to add to his total of 78, best in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Big Ten Leaders
Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—Herman Everhardus, whose toe has proved the winning edge for Michigan in two successive victories, today had a margin of 18 points over Jay Berwanger, Chicago sophomore, in the race for high scoring honors in the Big Ten football campaign.

Everhardus supplied four points as Michigan defeated Iowa, 10 to 6, Saturday and lifted his scoring total to 60. Berwanger, unable to score against Big Ten teams until he tangled with Indiana, hammered over to touchdown and kicked the extra point to raise his total to 42.

Dick Crayne of Iowa, injured Saturday, failed to score, but held third with 36 points.

CHICAGO WORLD'S FAIR IS CLOSED TILL NEXT JUNE

22,317,221 Saw the Great Exposition During
Current Season

Chicago, Nov. 13—(AP)—A Century of Progress Exposition was in winter retirement today after having been visited by 22,317,221 persons since it opened last May 27.

Today its broad avenues were deserted of all except a few guards and workmen. The "Streets of Paris" were strangely still and along the Midway the voice of the barker was gone. The Hall of Science and other exhibit buildings were locked for the first time.

Yesterday 92,262 persons, lured by sunny skies and a sudden rise in the temperature, passed through the turnstiles for the last time until next June 1 when the fair will open for another season by popular request. Even President Roosevelt urged that it be held over.

Was Last Patron
At the stroke of midnight last night Henry Running, a Rush Medical college student from Sioux City, Ia., entered the grounds and became the last person to visit the fair in 1933. He was presented with a medal and a complimentary season ticket for next year.

Closing ceremonies were simple and brief. Talks by Rufus C. Dawes, president, and Mayor Lemmon, R. Lohr, general manager, were carried to the crowd on the grounds by the loud speaker system. Both thanked those who contributed to the success of the fair this year and expressed hopes for even greater success in 1934.

And then President Dawes closed the gates and applied a key to the locks. The World's Fair of 1933—a $37,000,000 show—was over.

AMERICAN ASSN.
DIRECTS BLOW
AT CHAIN TEAMS

Rule Out Acquisition of Help From Sponsoring Majors

Kansas City, Nov. 13—(AP)—Directing a blow at the chain store system in baseball, the American Association has imposed drastic penalties for clubs which acquire player strength from their major league affiliates except during the early stages of the annual pennant race.

By a vote of six to two, association club owners in session here over the week-end adopted a resolution setting May 15 as the last date on which a member club can obtain players from their major league sponsors. A team violating the new regulation would be subject to a fine of $1,000 for each game, and games won by the offending team would be thrown out.

The resolution met with the protests of the Columbus and Milwaukee clubs, owned by the St. Louis Cardinals and the St. Louis Browns, respectively. Earlier in the season representatives of the two clubs had joined in making unanimous the re-election of President Thomas J. Hickey, a foe of the chain store system. President Hickey is serving his eighteenth consecutive year as head of the circuit.

The play-off plan adopted last season will be given another trial despite the protests of several members. The club leading the four western clubs at the close of the schedule will meet the leader of the eastern division for the championship pennant. A 15-game schedule was adopted. The season opening April 17, and closing September 17.

The player limit was set at 20, the limit to include any injured players under contract. No official action was taken on night baseball, but some owners expressed the opinion it would perish altogether or would be limited to one night a week.

Women's Interest
In Boxing Decried
By Pope In Speech

Vatican City, Nov. 13—(AP)—Women's interest in boxing, Pope Pius believes is not conducive to the maintaining of "the dignity and grace peculiar" to them.

Speaking yesterday at a ceremony preparatory to the expected canonization of Luisa de Marillac, co-founder of the Society of the Daughters of Charity, the Pope commented on her gentle character.

Mentioning the tendency of some modern women to "admire spectacles of brutal violence," the Pope said that was "not in keeping with the sentiments of human dignity and purity instilled by Christian teachings."

SEVEN UNBEATEN, UNITED TEAMS IN THE THRONE ROOM

Ready To Pick Up So.
California's Relinquished Sceptre

By HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Nov. 13—(AP)—Seven major undefeated and untied teams of American football today, ready to pick up the scepter relinquished by Southern California.

Of the seven, only Army's gold-helmeted warriors seemed certain, in advance, to preserve their unblemished record for another week. All of the others, Oregon, Michigan, Georgia, Duke, Princeton and Nebraska were booked against traditional rivals of formidable power.

Briefly here's what these contenders still have in front of them:

ARMY: Penn Military is a breather this week after which the Cadets face Navy and Notre Dame.

MICHIGAN: The Wolverines must get past powerful Minnesota this week and then Northwestern to clinch Big Ten honors and possible national championship recognition.

OREGON: Her apparent to the Pacific Coast throne and the Rose Bowl assignment, Oregon must tie or defeat Southern California this week. The Webfoots' final game is with St. Mary's Gels.

GEORGIA: The Bulldogs have Auburn to meet this week and then Georgia Tech and So. California.

DUKE: North Carolina, North Carolina State and Georgia Tech is a big mixture for the Blue Devils.

PRINCETON: Navy this Saturday, then Rutgers and Yale.

NEBRASKA: The Cornhuskers have Pitt and Iowa to face on the next two Saturdays.

Briefly, here are the outstanding features, by sections, of this week's program:

Outstanding Features
EAST: Pitt, having wrecked Duquesne's hopes last week, probably will start a slight favorite over Nebraska, as will Princeton over Navy. Army's reserves probably will take care of Penn Military.

OREGON STATE'S clash with Fordham at the Polo Grounds and George Washington's tussle with Tulsa complete the intersectional slate.

The principal stress is laid on such domestic duels as those involving Dartmouth and Cornell, Syracuse and Colgate, Harvard and Brown, Penn and Penn State, New York University and Rutgers, and Columbia and LaFayette.

BIG TEN: Michigan and Minnesota top the day's fun here without a dispute. Purdue, favored over Iowa, will be in a position to take the lead should Michigan be beaten.

Illinois and Chicago, Wisconsin and Ohio State are the other conference pairings. Northwestern plays a Notre Dame team, shut out in four successive games.

BIG SIX: Nebraska already has clinched the title for the third year in a row. Kansas and Iowa State, Oklahoma and Kansas State square off as the drive continues for the other positions. Missouri plays Washington University of St. Louis.

SOUTH: Six Southeastern Conference games are headed by pacesetter Georgia's tangle with Auburn. Alabama, Louisiana State and Vanderbilt, all of which have outside chances of figuring in the championship award, take the field against Georgia Tech, Mississippi State, Tennessee, respectively.

Tulane plays Kentucky and Mississippi State confronts Sewanee. Duke may have trouble with North Carolina in the feature game of the Southern Conference program.

marked otherwise by a clash between Virginia and Virginia Polytechnic hopes to continue its virtual sweep over Southwest Conference foes at the expense of Southern Methodist.

PACIFIC COAST: Oregon's crucial game takes the Webfoots against Southern California with a tie or victory clinching the title for the sturdy northwest outfit. Washington, C. L. A., California, Idaho, Stanford-Montana, complete the conference program. St. Mary's plays its annual game with Santa Clara Sunday.

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas plays a non-conference game with Hendrix but Texas, the other leader, faces Texas Christian, and Rice meets Texas A. & M. Baylor's Bears, surprise conquerors of both Texas Christian and Texas, deploys against the strong Texas Tech outfit Friday.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN: Utah can dispatch one of the two rivals, who still dispute the Utes' right to the conference crown, by beating Denver this week. The other contender, Colorado Aggies, will be idle.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou
BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for a rest. He is trying to forget ADELE ALLEN, film actress, who has filled him.

Bannister goes to dinner with his old friend, JIM PAXTON, now editor of the Tremont Post. Later he takes a cab home. The cab is halted in front of the Shelby Arms, apartment hotel, by a traffic light. A girl comes out of the hotel and rushes to the cab. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed but agrees to ride with him to her destination. In the cab she drops her handbag and Bannister sees that it contains a revolver. A few minutes later she leaves.

Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment at the Shelby Arms. Police are looking for an "unknown blond" who visited King the night before.

Bannister, remembering the girl in the cab, is puzzled. Downtown later that morning he meets her again.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER IV

THE girl paused, chin lifted a trifle defiantly. "Well," she said steadily, "why don't you take me to the police? That's what you're come for, isn't it?"

Somehow Bannister couldn't find the words he wanted. "But—" he stammered, "I mean—"

"I'd rather get it over with," the girl assured him. "Right away. What are you waiting for?"

She was dressed exactly as she had been the night before, in the green suit with the bit of fur at the throat and the close-fitting green hat. A little of the bright, honey-colored hair showed below the hat at each side of her face.

It gave her an air of innocence, Bannister thought.

Suddenly he was moved to action. He might be making a mistake but he couldn't help it.

"Listen," he said, "you can't stay here! And you shouldn't be wearing those clothes. Don't you know that? You're taking a terrible risk!"

The defiance dropped from the girl's face. She stared at him. Then, in an unbelieving tone, she asked, "You mean—you aren't going to arrest me?"

It was so silly that Bannister laughed. "I'm not a policeman," he said. "Did you think I was? I don't know any reason why I should take you to the police but I warn you that if you keep on wearing that green outfit you're likely to find yourself at headquarters."

The girl's eyes sought his. "I know!" she said. "But I haven't anything else to wear. I'm afraid to go out to buy anything. I'm afraid someone will see me. Oh, I don't know what to do. I can't even seem to think!"

Suddenly despair and pleading came into the gray eyes. "Will you help me?" she begged. "Oh, will you?"

DAVID BANNISTER hadn't expected anything of the sort. A few moments before she had seemed a thoroughly poised young woman, amply sure of herself. She had been sure of herself the night before, too—except for that one instant as she turned to go into the hotel. Bannister had made up his mind to keep the affair of the night before strictly to himself. Helping her to evade the police was another matter.

"Why, I don't know—" he began.

"Oh, please! You must!"

"Listen," Bannister said soberly, "maybe you'd better tell me a few things. We ought to go somewhere where we can talk."

"There's a room right here," said the girl eagerly. "Nobody was in it when I left a minute ago. I'll tell you all about everything—but promise you'll help me!"

"I'll do what I can," he assured her, and was amazed at himself.

She led the way to the writing room—a small, irregularly shaped retreat with a few desks shaded by green lamps. The room was furnished rather like a small hotel parlor, and, in fact, was used chiefly for that purpose.

There was no one else there. At the far end of the room two large club chairs had been turned so that they faced the street. Only the backs of the chairs were visible from the doorway. Bannister saw them and strode forward.

"Here," he said, "let's sit here."

They settled themselves and Bannister, screwing his neck about uncomfortably, concluded they were safe from observation for the time being.

"Take off your hat," he suggested to the girl. "It will make you look different."

She drew off the cap-like bit of felt and ribbon and automatically raised one hand to smooth her hair. Very attractive hair, with gleaming, golden high lights and darker, richer tones in the shade.

"You knew Tracy King?" Bannister asked.

ow. It lay in smooth, soft waves about the girl's face.

FOR the first time Bannister inspected that face closely, and registered approval. She was pretty—but by no means the prettiest girl he had seen. Hundreds of perfectly featured Hollywood faces routed that claim. This girl had something else—character and distinction. He liked the rather high forehead, the tilt of the nose, the lips drawn generously and, though undoubtedly covered by rouge, of a shade approaching naturalness.

And this girl was wanted for murder.

"Well," he said uneasily, "you were going to tell me about it—"

She nodded. "I'll tell you everything," she agreed, "if only you'll help me. I—I must tell someone. I can't stand it any longer!"

"Maybe we'd better begin with names," he suggested. "Mine is Bannister, by the way—David Bannister."

"Oh!" She eyed him inquiringly. "I've heard that name somewhere. You're not—?"

"No one of the slightest importance, I assure you. I'm—well, just now I'm out of a job."

He thought for a moment there was sympathy in the gray eyes. Then they turned away. "Out of a job," the girl repeated. "That's why I came to Tremont. I thought I could get a job here—"

"But you haven't told me who you are?"

"My name," she said, "is Juliet France. I don't live in Tremont. I've never been here before, but I had to have a job. That's why I came."

"Why not?"

"I can't!" Juliet France repeated fervently. "And—there's something else. I've got to go back there again. I've got to get back in that room!"

FEDERAL TAXES ON MANY THINGS WILL END DEC. 5

Levy On Liquors Is Expected To Provide Needed Revenues

Washington, Nov. 13—(AP)—President Roosevelt expects to issue a proclamation about December 5 to end taxes that the Treasury estimates are producing about $227,000,000 a year.

These taxes were included in the National Industrial Recovery Act for the special purpose of financing the emergency program. Attached to them was a proviso under which a presidential proclamation would end them—after repeal.

Repeal officially will come on the afternoon of December 5. President Roosevelt, represented as regarding his tax-suspending proclamation as mandatory, intends to issue it as soon as he has received formal notification of the action which makes Utah the thirty-sixth state to ratify the new repealing constitutional amendment.

Plans Speedy Action
This notification, because of routine or the distance of Utah from the national Capital, may be delayed for a day or so, but the President plans speedy action.

When he does act, his proclamation will, beginning January 1, eliminate half a cent of the Federal al gasoline tax and the 5 per cent now levied on divisions at the source. On July 1, 1934, the capital stock tax will end and the excess profits levy will be dropped at the end of the taxable year chosen by the taxpayer.

The President hopes, too, to be able to eliminate some of the so-called "nuisance" levies—taxes on refrigerators, automobile tires and the like. In all, officials estimate that he wishes to do away with nearly $500,000,000 in taxes.

But all will not be beer and skittles for the taxpayer—especially the one who uses the new legalized beverages. Administration sources say it will be necessary to raise this $500,000,000 given up by levies on distilled liquors.

Studying Question
How much these will be has not been determined, but the Treasury this week will submit its estimates to a House Ways and Means subcommittee studying the question.

Even the cabinet is divided on this, some urging that the existing tax of $1.10 a gallon on domestic whiskey be unchanged, others insisting that it be raised as high as $3.

This point, among others, will come before the President and his special cabinet committee when they resume discussion of the after-repeal problems this week. But most all the officials involved are in agreement with the President's desire for continued strong Federal control over the liquor traffic.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

QUOTES T. R.

In 1898, when the United States went to war with Spain, Theodore Roosevelt was Assistant Secretary of the Navy. He immediately resigned his position and volunteered his services to the country. He was instrumental in organizing the 1st U. S. Vol. Cav., which became famous as Roosevelt's Rough Riders. At the battle of San Juan he was in the forefront of the fighting, leading his untrained men against the veteran Spanish troops. Because he had served and had undergone the hardships and suffering of actual warfare, Theodore Roosevelt, when he became President, made this declaration: "War veterans have a greater claim upon us than any other class of our citizens."

This was a reiteration of the policy established by George Washington even before the Constitution was ratified and enunciated by every President until Franklin Delano Roosevelt took over the reins of the government.

In his address to the national convention of the American Legion in Chicago, Franklin Delano Roosevelt repudiated the policy of Washington, Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt when he made this statement:

"No person, because he wore a uniform, must thereafter be placed in a special class of beneficiaries over and above all other citizens."

This clash of principles is of greatest importance to the veterans of this country and their dependents.

At no time have the country's defenders failed to respond patriotically and unselfishly to any call to duty either in time of war or time of peace. They have invariably offered their services whenever they were needed.

Despite the calumny heaped upon their heads these men, and the women associated with them, have always stood ready to make any sacrifices necessary for the welfare of the country they offered their lives to defend. They are not now and never have been "Treasury raiders." As true-blue American citizens they want to do their part in promoting the happiness and prosperity of this nation.

This does not mean that veterans are to be treated as dirt under the feet of Wall Street and Big Business partitoteers. The men who wore the uniform in times of war are proud of their service, and they have a right to be. They are willing and ready to compromise on details, but on principle never.

This principle was first put into words by George Washington on June 8, 1783, when he said:

"In what part of the continent shall we find any man or body of men who would not blush to stand up and propose measures purposely calculated to rob the soldier of his stipend and the public creditor of his due? And were it possible that such a flagrant instance of injustice could ever happen, would it not excite the general indignation and tend to bring down upon the authors of such measures the aggravated vengeance of Heaven?"

Those are strong words, but they expressed the sentiments of the Father of His Country. Like Theodore Roosevelt, Washington knew what a man in war must endure.

Nearly a hundred years after Washington had established the country's policy toward veterans, Abraham Lincoln, in his second inaugural address on March 4, 1865, declared it to be the duty of the country "to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphans."

Until the advent of the present regime the policy of Washington, Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt was the recognized policy of the United States. Upon the principle enunciated by those great leaders Congress enacted all relief legislation for disabled veterans and their dependents. There was no questioning the fundamentals; only details were considered.

The leader of the New Deal, however, would throw the entire framework into the discard and begin anew. He would repudiate Washington, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. Under his plan the pension roll would cease to be an honor roll. He does not believe disabled veterans "have a greater claim upon us than any other class of our citizens."

He goes on the theory that because a man wore the uniform in a war he must not be placed "in a special class of beneficiaries over and above all other citizens."

The true spirit of Americanism is embodied in the declaration of Theodore Roosevelt.

A WAR VETERAN.

OBITUARY

THOMAS F. DREW

(Contributed)

Thomas Francis Drew was born in Palmyra township, March 29, 1864, and passed away Nov. 7, 1933 at the age of 69 years, seven months and nine days. At the age of five, with his parents, he moved from Palmyra township to Harmon where he resided until March 4, 1907, when he moved to a farm in Nelson township, where he resided until his death.

On May 22, 1895 he was united in marriage to Catherine Scanlon of Harmon. To this union nine children were born: Omer of Dixon, Raymond at home, Leo of Harmon, Mrs. Mary Scully of Ohio, Mrs. Alice Levan of Dixon, Margaret, Catherine, Veronica and Dorothy at home. Besides his widow and children, he is survived by two brothers, Dennis of Harmon and Patrick of Rice Lake, Wis., and four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Long of Harmon, Miss Ella Drew, Mrs. John Norpel and Mrs. William McDonald of Chicago, eight grandchildren and a host of friends.

His parents and two brothers preceded him in death. Mr. Drew spent his entire life on the farm. For 18 years he was commissioner of highways of Nelson township. He had been in failing health for the past three years and his death was not unexpected. The funeral was held Thursday morning from St. Flannan's Catholic church at Harmon and interment was in Holy Cross cemetery. The pallbearers were his nephews, John Drew, Edward Drew, Emmett Drew, Charles Drew, Louis Long and Martin Norpel.

Bridge Players Of Dixon Entering Elks' Natl. Tourney

The Elks Club is taking an active part in the Elks National Bridge Tournament. The tournament is to be held in the local club home on Friday evening, November 24th, at 9:00 P. M.

One very interesting feature of this tournament is the fact that everybody will be playing exactly the same hands at the same time. The main competition is between like pairs; that is, all of the East and West players are in competition with all the other East and West players. This competition not only prevails in the local club room but holds good throughout the nation. Mr. and Mrs. Smith of this city will be playing the same hands at the same time against Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Kokomo.

These pre-arranged hands were prepared of the leading bridge experts of the country—and while they are extremely interesting and develop timely problems, they are not freaks or trick hands. They illustrate points which come up at almost every session. They are the kind of hands a bridge player would select if asked to pick out the most interesting ones held in a month's session of bridge.

The cards to be used are to come to the Club in a sealed package and these seals are to be broken in front of the players. Each deck of cards which will be in the sealed package are in turn individually sealed, the first official move towards actually starting the play of the Tournament will be the breaking of these seals on the part of the players themselves.

Two hours after the opening of the Tournament a packet will be delivered to the Club by postal messenger, and when everybody has finished playing and scores turned in, this packet—which contains the master score sheets and the analysis of the bidding and play of the hands—will be opened and distributed to the players. While the score keepers are checking the scores to determine the winners the players can check the results they obtained as compared with their opponents', as well as with the results given by the experts.

This arrangement for handling the cards and the analysis makes it impossible for anyone to obtain in advance information as to the character of hands used or the par score on them.

The local committee extends an invitation to all bridge players to compete, as the tournament is not confined to Elks. Entries must be in by Thursday morning of this week, auction players to make entries with Lee Reed and contract players with Dr. L. R. Evans. The entry fee gives the players several fine lessons by sixteen experts and all bridge players should take advantage of the opportunity.

NEWS CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Yesterday full congregations greeted the Rev. James Gillespie of Sycamore as he preached in the campaign in the Baptist church. In the morning service he preached on "The Battles of Life and How to Win Them." His message was timely and welcome and was greatly enjoyed. In the afternoon he spoke to a very attentive group of children who were deeply interested. In the evening he addressed the Pioneers, the intermediate B. Y. P. U. A splendid audience met in the church in the evening as he spoke on "The Consequences of Sin," pointing out the dangers of delay in decision for Christ. His address was followed closely by a very earnest congregation who were deeply impressed. There were six decisions for Christ during the services yesterday.

Tonight he will speak on "Handicaps and How to Overcome Them" at 7:30 P. M. Tomorrow morning (Tuesday) at 10 A. M. the cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Underhill, 1103 Monroe avenue. Children's services on Tuesday and Thursday at 4 P. M. It will be well worth your while to come to the above services to hear the gospel. The Master's message is being preached faithfully and well. It is in the interest of your soul's salvation that we invite you to come.

"KING OF KINGS"

"King of Kings" made its first of two appearances at the First Methodist church last evening. Some Dixonites had seen Cecil B. DeMille's greatest picture in Chicago but last evening it was made available to the multitude. From the healing of Mark and the little blind girl to the glorious Ascension of Our Lord the picture is both brilliant as a production and true to the New Testament.

Was the scene depicting the blandishments of beautiful Mary of Magdala, closing with Jesus casting out the seven deadly sins from her life the most gripping? "Yes," some will say. "No" others said last night, "the Last Supper was the choice scene." Nowhere in Christian history has the cleansing of the Temple, the arrest and trial of Jesus been done so well as in "King of Kings" by DeMille. But how could there be a more powerful scene than the march to the hill of Golgotha, the Crucifixion and triumph of Our Lord in death, including the end of Judas, the storm, and the earthquake. But there are those who will love best the resurrection scene. The music is beautiful and fitting.

The last showing of "King of Kings" will be this evening at 7:30. There is no admission charge but a silver offering will be taken.

Daily Health Talk

THE PROSTATE

The prostate is a glandular structure belonging to the sexual system of the male. Described roughly, it is shaped somewhat like a chestnut. It is divided into lobes and surrounds the urethra or urinary passage leading from the bladder outward.

The gland secretes what is known as prostatic fluid. When subjected to disease, and also as the individual grows older, the prostate tends to become enlarged. Thereby it constricts or compresses the urethra, with the result that the individual finds it difficult to empty his bladder.

As a result urination is interfered with, waste matter is retained in the bladder and in more serious conditions is dammed back from the bladder through the ureters.

the tubes leading from the kidneys to the bladder.

This may lead to further complications. The kidneys may be injured. The elimination of urea and other waste substances may be interfered with, resulting in the retention of harmful waste products in the blood.

Occasionally, local treatment is effective. Massage of the prostate and other forms of local treatment by a qualified practitioner may at times prove helpful in reducing the swelling or enlargement of the prostate, eliminating in a measure the constriction of the urethra.

Before massage is applied, it is essential to rule out the possible existence of a malignant growth. At times, too, the condition may be such that massage, far from reducing the swelling or enlargement of the prostate, may increase it.

Frequently, therefore, it becomes necessary to treat the condition surgically. An artificial opening into the bladder may be made as a temporary relief measure. Again, the prostate may require surgical removal.

Recently a new procedure has been developed. This treatment consists in the electrical coagulation of the prostate in the region through which the urethra passes.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

Eddie Woods, one of the "top hands" of the cowboy world, says:

"Ten seconds on the back of an outlaw horse is about the hardest punishment for a man's nerves that anybody can imagine. To have nerves that can take it, I smoke only Camels. I've tried them all, but Camels are my smoke! They have a natural mildness, and I like their
